Clergy Support Trust

Who we are

We are the largest charity focussed on the wellbeing of Anglican clergy and their families, supporting thousands of households each year.

We offer support services and financial grants so that clergy and their families can thrive.

In 2022 we provided more grants than in any previous year – over 5,400 in total.

Confidential, impartial and inclusive support is available by calling 0800 389 5192, emailing grants@clergysupport.org.uk or visiting our website: clergysupport.org.uk

“When you ask for help as a disabled person it can often be really humiliating, but I never felt that for one second with Clergy Support Trust.”

Emma, Nottinghamshire

We help serving and retired Anglican clergy and their families in the UK, Ireland, Diocese in Europe and Diocese of Sodor and Man.

We are independent and impartial.

Some ways we can help

Wellbeing support – to encourage work/life balance with grants for holidays, retreats, respite breaks, fitness and leisure or sabbaticals

Mental and physical health – help like diagnostic tests and therapies, mobility aids, access to a free insomnia programme, and referrals for free counselling sessions

Money worries – grants for the unexpected or rising cost of living, such as energy bills or car repairs, means-tested financial support to help you get through a period of difficulty, or help to tackle problem debt

The majority of our grants are non-means-tested, including emergency grants and wellbeing grants.

See how we can help you by using the simple eligibility checker on our website.

“The lady on the end of the phone was so easy to talk to. It was just easy to tell her the story: she understood quickly where I was coming from and encouraged me to apply.”

Helen, Gloucester

Here for you during training

Clergy Support Trust library

Ordinands and curates in training can access 1,300 eBooks from the Clergy Support Trust Library, a partnership with SPCK/IVP.

Health needs

Health grants are also available for ordinands and their immediate family, should a need arise.
